WELLPOINT SYSTEMS CHOSEN BY ALTA MESA HOLDINGS

Growing company chose BOLO by WellPoint for Integration and Scalability

CALGARY, Alberta – Sept. 14, 2010 – WellPoint Systems Inc., (TSX-V:WPS), provider of software and solutions designed to transform complex data into actionable business insight for oil and gas industry executives, has been tapped by Alta Mesa Holdings, LP, to supply its back office software solution.

“After looking at our options, we selected WellPoint Systems due to their unique ability to not only provide an integrated Land, Accounting and Production system, but also pull together critical information from all of our systems and provide the data in a decision making format that is meaningful and immediately useful,” said Hal Chappelle, CEO of Alta Mesa. “The deep industry functionality of BOLO is important to us, as well as knowing we will be working with a partner that understands the importance of mining company data to provide actionable information quickly as we move our company forward.”

After a steep growth period, including the acquisition of Meridian Resources, the Company leadership took the opportunity to choose WellPoint Systems’ BOLO product for its broad connectivity to other systems and its ease of use, and also because Alta Mesa is transitioning from its traditional all-oil base and needs a software solution that can accommodate the anticipated company growth.

“Alta Mesa wanted a partner that could lead the charge on standardizing best practices in their financial management, and incorporate that into their solution, and that partner is WellPoint Systems,” said Richard Slack, president and CEO of WellPoint Systems. “We look forward to working with Alta Mesa to improve their technological back office and enable their business for future expansion.”
